New Year Prayer

Sovereign Lord,
Here we are at the gateway of another year. A gateway we have to go through, leaving behind all the events and memories of the old year – all of that now known and recorded and part of our history.

Here we are, with no choice but to step out into the unknown, into the uncertainty of the future. But while we may not know what lies ahead, we thank you that we can know who lies ahead, if we put our trust in Jesus. He promises to be the Way, the Truth and the Life for all time. Thank you that no matter what this New Year may bring, we do not move into it or through it alone. You are already there, as you were in the beginning. So in this and every year we say, Glory to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit, as we walk forward with confidence and in faith. Amen.

NEW BEGINNINGS

It was announced in church on Sunday 16th December that I am to become the Priest-in-Charge here at St. George's from some time in March 2013. The following is the little speech I made following the announcement:

Have you ever received a Christmas present from someone and when you've opened it you've thanked them very nicely but under your breath you've thought, "I wish they hadn't given me this." Maybe that's what you're thinking now that you know who will be the next priest in charge of St George's. The saying is very true, "Be careful what you pray for!"

I was asked to consider becoming the Priest-in-Charge by Bishop Mark, and following separate interviews with three different Bishop's Advisors, it was recommended that I change from being an OLM to become a stipendiary priest. This was supported by Archdeacon Cherry, Roger Farnworth, who is one of the patrons of St George's and our two wardens Gill and Janet, who were the parish representatives in the formal interview at the beginning of December.

I take it as a great privilege to be able to become the Priest-in-Charge here and serve you over the next few years. And if you're thinking what's the difference between an incumbent and a Priest-in-Charge, then the answer is 'not very much really'..

I was instructed to take a couple of months away from St George's, following Christmas Day onwards, and spend one month each in two different parishes, shadowing their priests and learning along the way. My licensing service is likely to be around mid March. This means that, until then, Keith will have to bear the brunt of the extra work but be fully supported by the wardens. I am sure you all, too, will give him support, and he will need your prayers, as will Irene and I as we come out of our sort of retirement and go back to work.

Our prayers will be for you as well – it will be a challenging time and, for some, disappointing, as there is to be no new, young and dynamic priest to take the parish forward. I do believe that God has called me to take on this new role and I hope and pray that we can indeed move forward together and help the church here at St. George's to grow and to flourish.

With very best wishes to you all for a happy and healthy 2013.
Philip

SENIOR CITIZENS' PARTY

It's that time of year again! This year, the Senior Citizens' Party will take place on 26th January 2013 from 3.00p.m. to 7.00 p.m., to which we extend a very warm invitation to all of our Senior Citizens. There will be a chance to meet old friends and possibly make some new ones. As usual, there will be a lavish tea and not forgetting, of course, the very popular Bingo session.

This year, our entertainers are Tameside Community Choir, superbly led by Joyce Hansell, who will be singing some entertaining songs for us. As always, it will cost you nothing except your presence! But you'll have to act quickly because numbers are limited.

If you would like to come, then please get in touch with Nancy on 0161 338 4985 to reserve your ticket.

HELP! HELP! HELP!

We need your help. In order to provide some prizes for our Senior Citizens' Party, and get it going with a real swing, we are asking if you would kindly donate a prize for the Bingo. If you can provide a couple of prizes, or just even one, would you please bring them to church and give them to one of the Wardens, Nancy or Karen before the Party gets into full swing.

Many thanks in anticipation for your help.

It has been ten years since we last had a new Archbishop of Canterbury, the following article tells us more about the new incumbent The Right Reverend Justin Welby.

Looking forward to the 105th Archbishop of Canterbury

The Right Reverend Justin Welby, Bishop of Durham, will be enthroned as the 105th Archbishop of Canterbury in Canterbury Cathedral on 21st March. Dr Rowan Williams retired at the end of December, after ten years as Archbishop.

Bishop Welby admits: "To be nominated to this post is both astonishing and exciting. It is something I never expected, and the last few weeks have been a very strange experience. It is exciting because we are at one of those rare points where the tide of events is turning, and the church nationally, including the Church of England has great opportunities to match its very great but often hidden strengths.

"I feel a massive sense of privilege at being one of those responsible for the leadership of the church in a time of spiritual hunger, when our network of parishes and churches and schools and above all people means that we are facing the toughest issues in the toughest place."

So – what is the new Archbishop like? Where does he come from?

Born in 1956 in London, the Right Reverend Justin Welby was educated at Eton College and Trinity College, Cambridge, where he studied history and law. For 11 years - five in Paris and six in London – he worked in the oil industry, during this period he became a lay leader at Holy Trinity, Brompton in London, having been a council member at St Michael's Church in Paris.

His father's family were German Jewish immigrants who moved to England to escape anti-Semitism in the late 19th century, and integrated quickly. His British ancestors, on his mother's side, include several clergymen.

A major influence both on Justin and his wife Caroline was their experience of personal tragedy. In 1983 their seven-month old daughter died in a car crash in France. Six years later in 1989, after sensing a call from God, Bishop Justin stood down from industry to train for ordination.

He took a theology degree at St John's College, Durham, in which he focused on ethics – particularly in business. For 20 years, Justin Welby's ministry has blended deep devotion to his parish communities with church work around the world, especially in areas of conflict. After being ordained Deacon in 1992, he spent 15 years serving Coventry Diocese. His curacy was at All Saints Chilvers Coton with St Mary the Virgin Astley, in Nuneaton. In 1995 he became Rector of St James, Southam, a small market town in the same Diocese – and also the next year of St Michael and All Angels, Ufton, the neighbouring parish. He helped revive both churches, growing their congregations and launching bereavement and baptism teams, among other things.

Between 2000 and 2002 he also chaired an NHS hospital trust in South Warwickshire.

In 2002, he was made a Canon of Coventry Cathedral, where he ran the reconciliation work based there. With Canons Andrew White and Stephen Davis, he worked extensively in the field in Africa and the Middle East. He has a particular interest in Kenya, the DRC and Nigeria, where he was and remains involved in work with groups involved in conflict in the north. In the Niger Delta, he has worked on reconciliation with armed groups.

He met with religious and political leaders in Israel and Palestine, and on one trip to Baghdad reopened the Anglican Church with Canon Andrew White, shortly after the allied invasion. In 2006 he also took responsibility for Holy Trinity Coventry, the main city centre church, as Priest-in-charge.

He left Coventry five years later, being installed Dean of Liverpool on 8 December 2007. Liverpool Cathedral is the largest cathedral in England. Its local area, Toxteth, is among the most deprived in north-west Europe. During his deanship, he brought the Cathedral into much greater contact with its local community, working with asylum seekers and in partnership with neighbouring churches. The Cathedral also hosted events from a TUC rally to royal services. Over his four years, during which he also continued to work on reconciliation and mediation projects overseas, the Cathedral's congregation increased significantly.

In 2011, Justin Welby returned to the place where his journey towards becoming Archbishop began: on 2 June 2011, he was announced as the new Bishop of Durham, taking over from the Right Reverend Tom Wright. He was enthroned at Durham Cathedral on 26 November 2011, and drew parallels between Liverpool and Durham – noting both the struggles and the enduring spirit of the two places. On 9 November 2012, the Right Reverend Justin Welby was announced as the 105th Archbishop of the See of Canterbury.

An expert on the politics and history of Kenya and Nigeria, he has lectured on reconciliation at the US State Department. In the summer of 2012, he was asked to join the Parliamentary Commission on Banking Standards.

His interests include French culture, sailing and politics.

Diamond Jubilee

This month we offer you the latest in our series on Queen Elizabeth II, looking back down the 60 years of her reign. David Winter, former head of Religion for the BBC, has compiled this for us. This month we consider...

Diamond Jubilee: Elizabeth - pt 12 1953: YEAR OF DESTINY

Those who can remember the post-War era will probably remember, as I do, the particular relief that was afforded by the promise of the Coronation in 1953. Our young Queen had come to the throne the previous year, on the death of her greatly-loved father. Now she was to be enthroned, with suitable splendour, in Westminster Abbey by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr Fisher.

Sixty years ago the country was slowly emerging from the years of austerity that had followed the hardships of war. In the six years since she and Prince Philip were married, huge changes had taken place, perhaps the most notable the establishment of the National Health Service, a splendid product of Lord Beveridge's great 'Plan' for social reform. Food rationing was being phased out, but there were still shortages. National Service continued, so that 18 year old young men were called up for two years in the Forces. There was a full-blown war, involving British troops in a United Nations force, in Korea. Britain was officially at peace, but our big cities were still pock-marked with bomb-sites from the blitz.

As we have seen, the marriage of Philip and Elizabeth had been a wonderful event, bringing colour and excitement to what was in truth a fairly grim setting. Mind you, those of us who were young didn't see it like that - I was at school in London at the time, and life seemed quite exciting! But for older people, many of whom had suffered hardship and even bereavement in the years of war, the coronation in 1953 promised a genuine vision of hope for the future. Our young queen and her handsome prince would surely be the harbingers of a new age of hope.

So the preparations were laid. An important one for most people was to get access to a television set. At the time television, while edging its way into public consciousness, was essentially a rich person's toy. Sets were prohibitively expensive. However, help was at hand in the shape of a new industry, led by Radio Rentals. If you couldn't afford to buy a set, why not hire one, at a few shillings a week?

Other people, as my family did, made arrangements well in advance to watch the occasion. About fourteen of us planned to cram into a neighbour's living room around a television set with a screen not much bigger than a piece of foolscap paper! But - this above all - we would actually watch the queen being crowned, something ordinary people had never been able to do in our nation's long history.

The service was memorable - specially composed music, all the pomp and pageantry of a great national occasion, foreign royals and heads of state processing through London's streets and, strikingly, Prince Philip's elderly mother, by now the head of a Greek Order of nuns, moving with quiet dignity down the aisle of the abbey in her white robes.

Most of us had never seen anything like it before. We sensed it was more than simply an 'event' but the beginning of a new era. What we didn't know, of course, was that Elizabeth would still be our monarch sixty years later, with Philip still at her side.
