Dear All,

You might expect me, given my role description (E.g. Sea Cadet Corps Chaplain, to enhance awareness of HM Armed Forces, etc.) to one day write about war. Well, you'd be right in one way yet wrong in another. You see, I am using the word "war" as a pneumonic for "Work And Rest."

I can't quote the actual source, but I recently read in my newspaper that the British work some of the longest hours in the EU and, surprise, surprise, consequently suffer some of the highest stress levels as a result. On the other hand, there are a great many people who'd give their right hand just to find a job; sounds crazy, doesn't it? Possibly even more puzzling is the fact that some people in work seem to live just for retirement day.

For some people their job is no more than a pain in the backside, interrupting their social life. They can't wait to clock off on Friday afternoon and I sometimes wonder what they would make of what the Bible says about work, and rest.

If we accept that God Himself is a worker, then clearly the Bible approves of work. Think of the whole of creation. Jesus himself became a carpenter – and in those days it was all solid physical work, long before the advent of power-assisted tools. Consider the following points:-

1. Through work we can glorify God. "Do everything in the name of Jesus."
2. Work is one method of co-operating with God in His rule over creation. "I give youevery seed-bearing plant.....till the ground.....subdue the earth." This story of God with Adam and Eve shows that God does not do things without being in a partnership, with us. He looks upon us as stewards of His estate.
3. Our work plays its part in fulfilling our humanity. It may not be the fault of the individual concerned, but idleness is not a good thing. "There is nothing better for a man (or woman, of course!) than to enjoy his (her) work."
4. Work is away of serving others. "Work so that you may have something to share with those in need." This, of course, is the ideal, but you won't need me to tell you that we don't always live in the ideal world.

The Bible seems to recognise that not all occupations are fulfilling and satisfying. Skilled, trusted and joyful labour can become terminally boring and painful drudgery. Exploitation can enslave people and the unemployed can find themselves vilified by society. As for rest, again we have to start with the creation story; God rested on the seventh day. We often forget today that the Sabbath was invented so people could enjoy themselves! Even the animals and the ground were given a break!

For a Christmas present I received a superb short book ('Hit the Ground Kneeling' by Stephen Cottrell, Bishop of Chelmsford, Church House Publishing, ISBN 978-07151-4209-7) which is well worth reading. One of the important points he makes is to remember what Jesus did at times of stress, etc. He went somewhere to be quiet, on many occasions. It may well be good to work hard and well, but we must take time to rest in God. This is the sure way to find our own balance between Work And Rest.

(Some Bible reading if you wish:-

Exodus 20/8-11. Exodus 23/10-12 & 31/1-11. Deuteronomy 16/8. 1 Kings 17/13-14. Ecclesiastes 3/22 & 5/18-20. Ephesians 4/28. Colossians 3/23-24. 2 Thessalonians 3/6-13. Hebrews 3/11. I do not suggest that this list is exhaustive)

With every blessing,

Keith.

Making a positive difference in the lives of young people

Hello everyone, I'm Jojo

I am going to be a Street Pastor.

My aim is to help protect teenagers on a Friday night. To make sure that they are safe, especially when they are in a vulnerable situation.

Being a Street Pastor is a responsible role that requires six months of training and courses. We also wear a special uniform, which not only helps to identify us, but is also to keep us warm and dry.

I have already attended the first training session and the subjects were about 'Hate Crime' and 'Policing and the Society'. I was told the training courses, checks and the protective clothing will require £300. I think this is so worthwhile.

To help pay the £300, Angela, my coordinator, has come up with the 'Smarties for Pence' initiative. She has donated the Smarties and added some labels to them to help identify the cause.

So, if you would like to help, just collect a tube of Smarties from me and when you have finished the delicious chocolates just fill the empty tube with some spare 20 pence pieces.

All help will be gratefully appreciated.

Jojo

The 4th Sunday in Lent is celebrated as Mothering Sunday.
Originally families would get together for a special service at the 'mother' church, often at the local cathedral.

Today Mothering Sunday
is celebrated as a family day, a time to say 'thank you' to our mothers and to all who look after us.

There are many wonderful Mothers in the Bible, look up the Bible verses and find out who they are....

The New Seekers 'Read the Bible in a Year' Group

Our second meeting took place on Monday 3rd February and once again the group was lively and vocal, expressing many and varied opinions on what we have read in the Bible during the past four weeks. We are now in the book of Exodus in the Old Testament and coming to the end of St. Matthews gospel in the New Testament (plus several Psalms and verses from Proverbs too).

We remarked on how the Bible is so up to date and relevant for our lives today. We also noted how the Israelites travelled great distances and how family life is not really much different now to how it was then. It was suggested in Genesis that one fifth of all produce should be given back to the authority figures and four fifths kept for themselves. We likened this to what God expects us to 'give' back to Him. Tithing is giving a tenth of what we have to God to further His work in the church. A debate ensued about where this money is spent and how we need to be good stewards of all that God has given to us, be it time, talents as well as money in order to remind ourselves that we are only custodians of all that is on this earth.

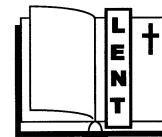

We also noted how there are many parallels in the Old and New Testaments, and realised that the Passover Lamb is the forerunner of Jesus Himself giving His life and shedding His blood in order to save us. We then chatted about the mother of James and John wanting the best for her sons in asking Jesus if they could sit either side of Him in His kingdom. We realised that Jesus loves everyone equally and doesn't value one above another (even his own family weren't singled out as anyone special!). We thought that this gives us all hope. We discussed the life that Jesus may have had in the intervening years from the account of Him staying behind in Jerusalem when He was around 12 years old to when He began His ministry around 30 years old. Learning carpentry and acquainting Himself with the scriptures seemed a possible answer. We also noted that Jesus wasn't really accepted as anything but the'carpenter's son' among His own people in Nazareth and stated that a prophet is not without honour ...'except in His own town.'

The book of Proverbs gives very sensible guidance on how we should live and behave - every verse is rich in advice. Reading just a couple of verses each day is so worthwhile. We discussed how God hardened Pharaoh's heart during the plagues and wondered why. We felt that maybe God wanted to show His power over Egypt and their 'gods' - and that He needed to do this by the means He chose. We closed with commenting on how each of the gospels in the New Testament was written for a particular audience therefore each one is going to be different from the other. We all said how excited we are when at the end of the days' readings there is often a 'cliff-hanger' and we can't wait to see how a particular incident unfolds. The hour passed so quickly and we left the meeting, looking forward to our next get-together on March 3rd. We closed with the grace.
